WYOMING 2005

The Strength of A&T

Aggie Pride Compact

The essence of Aggie Pride is manifested in standards depicting what it truly means to be a responsible member of The North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University Family. These standards provide the impetus and inspiration, which motivate students, faculty, staff, administrators, and trustees alike in their perpetual commitment to excellence. North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University has a unique legacy of nurturing individual students to realize their fullest potential.

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University is a learner-centered community that develops and preserves intellectual capital through interdisciplinary learning, discovery, engagement, and operational excellence. As members of the university community, all stakeholders share a pervasive sense of trust, pride, and allegiance in ensuring the preeminent status of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University in a global society. The following standards define the essence of Aggie Pride:

Achieving

Great

Goals

In

Everything

Producing

Renowned

Individuals

Dedicated to

Excellence

Aggie Pride is consistently communicating and behaving in a manner that displays integrity, honesty, sound character, and virtuous ethics.

Values

Aggie Pride is expecting and achieving success and setting high standards in all personal and professional ventures.

Achievement

Aggie Pride is taking a personal stand to positively affect the continuous growth, development and enhancement of the University at large.

Commitment

Aggie Pride is accepting and demonstrating a steadfast commitment to learning by taking responsibility through personal and professional development.

Self-determination

Aggie Pride is striving to significantly influence the development of individuals of all ages within and beyond our community to become lifelong learners.

Lifelong Learning

Aggie Pride is exhibiting a positive and willing attitude to unselfishly serve and to pledge ones talents and gifts for the betterment of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University and the larger world.

Service

Aggie Pride is contributing to the establishment and maintenance of a safe, clean, and aesthetically appealing campus with a favorable ecosystem.

Building Community

Aggie Pride is exhibiting a relentless desire and commitment to treat all individuals with a high level of appreciation and respect and to expect the same in return.

Respect

Aggie Pride is effectively representing the University by utilizing personal knowledge, skills, and resources.

Confidence

Aggie Pride builds on the past, maintains the present, and accepts the challenges of the future while providing our personal financial resources to preserve our legacy and ensure our future.

Legacy

Therefore, as a member of the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University family, I unconditionally accept the obligation entrusted to me to live my life according to the standards set forth in this Compact. By my words and actions, I commit to Aggie Pride and the pursuit of excellence for myself and for my university.

Alma Mater

*Dear A. & T., dear A. and T., a monument indeed,
Around thy base with grateful hearts behold thy students kneel,
We bless the power that gave thee birth to help us in our need,
We'll ever strive while here on earth all loyalty to yield.*

Refrain

*With joy, with joy, dear A. & T., thy students turn from thee
To spread their trophies year by year from Dare to Cherokee.*

II

*Dear A. and T., dear A. and T., the signet thou shalt be Set by our great old commonwealth, proud boaster of the free;
She'd have the record of her worth on granite not inscribed-
Nay, let the children of her birth proclaim it by their lives.*

III

*Dear A. and T., dear A. and T., henceforth our aim shall be,
By precepts wise and deeds more sure to bless the State through thee;
The arts of industry to wield against an idle foe.
A harvest rich from ripened fields of what thy students sow.*

A *T*RADITION OF EXCELLENCE:

THE STRENGTH OF A&T

NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL AND TECHNICAL STATE UNIVERSITY

1601 EAST MARKET STREET, GREENSBORO, NC 27411

The storied tradition of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University (A&T) was established and is maintained by each student, faculty and staff member, as well as external supporters' commitment to achieve excellence. Our beloved A&T's tenacity to overcome obstacles illustrates a tradition of trailblazing in the fields of academics, research, and sports. Tradition is one of A&T's most treasured assets. It reminds us of the legacy of leaders such as the A&T Four, while inspiring us to invest in our institution's future. It is with deep and unwavering AGGIE PRIDE that we pass down our gifts from the 2004-2005 academic school year to you.

Dear Aggie Family,

It has always been an exciting time to be an Aggie, but this year launches a new era for our Ayantee Yearbook. In a collaborative effort between the yearbook staff and Student Technology Services, we are able to provide you this year's edition that not only gives us a snapshot of the 2004-2005 year at North Carolina A&T, but also covers world events.

Not long after becoming Chancellor, I announced several themes upon which we would concentrate our efforts. One of these themes, the expanded use of technology, has been advanced by our faculty and staff, but also our students. In fact, the information age belongs to our students, and they are demonstrating that our future is in good hands.

I hope that you enjoy this year's Ayantee Yearbook. I encourage you to keep it as a special memento of a special time in your life. You will undoubtedly enjoy the memories of your times here on campus in the coming years, and it will also remind us of you.

You are the leaders and the best. You are Aggies!

Sincerely,

*James C. Renick
Chancellor*

Chancellor Renick in AggieLand

ADMINISTRATION

James C. Renick is the esteemed Chancellor at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University in Greensboro, North Carolina. He is the ninth chancellor of North Carolina A&T since its founding in 1891. Prior to his appointment in July 1999, Dr. Renick was Chancellor of the University of Michigan-Dearborn for six and a half years.

Dr. Renick received his BA from Central State University in Ohio, where he was inducted into the Donald K. Anthony Achievement Hall of Fame in 1993. He earned his MSW from Kansas University. He serves on numerous national boards and foundations and currently serves on the Presidential Board of Advisors on Historically Black Colleges and Universities, the North Carolina Board of Science and Technology, the Business-Higher Education Forum, the Educational Testing Services Advisory Board, the JSTOR Board of Trustees, the Jacob Lawrence Foundation, the Honorary Education Council of the National Minority Military Museum Foundation, and the Parren J. Mitchell Foundation.

With a doctorate in public administration from Florida State University, Chancellor Renick has focused on building partnerships between higher education and the community-at-large. His outstanding leadership in the area of corporate/university relations has engaged the campus in a unique strategic visioning process setting a course for the University that builds on its comparative advantages as the number one producer of black engineers and technologists in the world, a first-rate business school, and a rich civil rights legacy. Most recently, North Carolina A&T has embarked on several major capital projects, thanks to bonds approved by the voters of North Carolina. These projects and the $24 million capital expansion funded by the A&T Foundation are changing the face of the campus.

Chancellor Renick has consulted both nationally and internationally on leadership and higher education. In 1985, Dr. Renick established the Executive Fellows program at the University of South Florida, serving as the founding educational chair and director of the public administration program. In recent developments, Chancellor Renick is a founding member of the Millennium Leadership Institute of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities – a program designed to increase the number of university presidents/chancellors of color. His achievements have brought him numerous awards, including the American Association for Higher Education Black Caucus' Exemplary Award for Public Service, the University of Michigan President's Medallion, Who's Who in Black America, and Faculty of the Year. Locally, he is on the board of the Microelectronics Center of North Carolina, the Piedmont Triad Center for Advanced Manufacturing, the Piedmont Triad Partnership, the Greater Greensboro Chamber of Commerce, and is the past-Chair of the Greensboro Merchants Association.

Ralph Brown.

Ralph Douglas Brown commonly known as "Dean" has been a part of the Aggie family for over thirty years, first as a student and later as a faculty member and administrator. While at A&T, he has served in many different positions, ranging from Intramural Sports Director, Assistant Football Coach, Assistant Dean of Student Development, and currently serving as the Assistant Director of Programs here at the university. He is also a member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Incorporated, and he is affiliated with many other prestigious organizations, such as the A&T Hall of Famers, (where he currently serves as president) the A&T Alumni Association, the A&T Victory Club, and the Greensboro Aggie Club. Within the community, he is a member and deacon of New Light Missionary Baptist Church and a great humanitarian, devoting much of his time to uplifting others. Annually, he gathers many A&T students together and goes out and stuffs Christmas stockings for underprivileged children through the Empty Stocking Fund Christmas Giveaway. For so many years here at A&T, Dean Brown has unselfishly put the well-being and happiness of each student as a priority. To many students, he is not only an advisor, he is also a best friend, a coach, a mentor, a teacher, and even to some a father. Dean Brown, we thank you for all that you do.

"Leaders of Tomorrow"

"Leaders are born, not made." Leadership is a major responsibility when it comes to satisfying Aggies' needs and wants. Upholding a position on the SGA Executive Board is a duty, not an obligation. One of the SGA's major achievements during the 2004-2005 school year was hosting the 4th Annual HBCU "Think Tank." The theme this year was "Empowering Leaders to Assemble and Take Over," teaching students to invest time in their campus, community, and ultimately themselves. The SGA Executive Board for 2004-2005 will be remembered for their tremendous hard work and their abilities to help influence the Aggie student body to become leaders of the future.

For many years, the College of Engineering has been the nation's leading producer of African-American engineers and also the leading producer of African-American women engineers at the bachelor's level. It is currently the third largest producer of African-American Masters level engineers, after Georgia Tech and Johns Hopkins and the leading producer of African-American doctorates in engineering.

Women comprise approximately 30% of the students in the College of Engineering. The College is ranked 6th in the country in the percentage of degrees awarded to women (39%) and is ranked 37th in the number of engineering degrees awarded to women.

Two programs in the College have distinctive features. These include the Architectural Engineering program which is the only one of its kind in the state and only one of thirteen in the country; and the Bio-environmental Engineering program that is the only ABET (Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology) accredited program of its kind at an Historically Black College or University.

to be a Vice Chancellor whose honorary appointments and positive attitudes allow students to thrive. We choose to be administrators, but ones whose work ethic can be an example for students to follow. We choose to be professors and instructors, but ones who care and share knowledge with the students. We choose to be alumni, but ones who students can identify themselves with when the time comes. We choose to be prominent Agents, but ones who are a continuing asset because of our alma mater. APT has it has taken much longer to get to this "Level of Excellence." Our progress has been slow, but steady. We are proud of what we have accomplished and we are proud of what we are still doing. We are proud of what we are still doing.

Prominent Aggies

Janice Bryant Howroyd

Janice Bryant Howroyd, a North Carolina A&T State University student in the early 1970's, founded ACT-1 Personnel Services in 1978, with a single office in Beverly Hills, focused on the entertainment industry. It has since expanded to serve large corporate clients providing temporary workers in technical, clerical, engineering, accounting and managed services.

Today, ACT-1 has grown into a network of over 70 strategically positioned offices across the United States, and employs more than 65,000 temporary employees and over 300 full-time employees nationwide. The company had sales of over $518 million in 2003.

In 2003, Black Enterprise Magazine named the company the third largest African-American owned business in the United States.

Rev. Jesse Jackson has firmly established himself as one of the most dynamic forces for social and political action in both the national and international arenas. He has campaigned for economic justice, human rights, world peace, and the United States presidency. An inspirational speaker, committed activist, tireless and confident politician, Jackson began his career as a foot soldier in the Civil Rights Movement of the 1960s and has evolved into a leader of millions of Americans--black and white--a "rainbow coalition" of the nation's dispossessed and disenfranchised.

In 1959, Jackson attended Greensboro's North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College. There, he was quarterback, honor student, fraternity officer, and president of the student body. He received his B.A. in sociology. While at NC A&T, Jackson became involved in the Civil Rights movement and joined the Greensboro chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), an organization that had led early sit-ins to protest segregated lunch counters.

Jackson joined Martin Luther King, Jr., and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) in 1965 during demonstrations in Selma, Alabama, pushing for expanded voting rights for blacks. In 1966, he committed himself full-time to the Civil Rights Movement. His driving ambition to achieve success is the source of his strength. Throughout his career as a political and social activist, Jackson has also been a prominent figure in international diplomacy.

Jackson acts while others talk of action. In a 1996 speech, Jackson said, "If you go along and get along, you're a coward. Only by principled engagement can you be a force for change and hope." Jackson's life has been one of principled engagement.

Born in the midst of the voting rights struggle on March 1, 1965, (pictured here with his father), Congressman Jesse L. Jackson, Jr., is no stranger to a tradition of excellence. Along with a host of educational degrees, he has an even longer list of political battles he has fought for the betterment of the American people.

In 1987, Congressman Jackson graduated magna cum laude from North Carolina A&T State University. He has served in the United States House of Representatives since December 12, 1995. He was sworn in as a member of the 104th Congress. Prior to his congressional service, Congressman Jackson also served as the National Field Director of the National Rainbow Coalition.

A Tradition of Excellence

Elvin Bethea, an outstanding prospect from North Carolina A&T, was the Houston Oilers third-round pick in the 1968 AFL/NFL Draft. Most observers agree that for a third-rounder, he was a steal. In hindsight, and after 16 seasons of outstanding play with the Oilers, it's safe to say he was more than a "steal," as he was clearly one of the best players.

An eight-time Pro Bowl selection, Bethea played in 210 games during his long career in Houston. He was named first- or second-team All-AFL/AFC six times and second-team All-Pro four times. Considered a leader both on and off the field, Bethea was durable and dependable.

When he retired he held three team records relating to career service: most seasons (16), most career regular season games played (210), and most consecutive regular season games played (135). He also saw action in eight Oilers playoff games. Elvin's unofficial 105-career quarterback sack total still ranks as the best in Oilers/Tennessee Titans history. His 691-career tackles, are still among the best in franchise history, even excluding the first six years of his career.

Elvin Bethea

Sandra Hughes

Sandra Hughes has been a familiar face at WFMY News 2 since 1972. Sandra was born in Durham, N.C., and graduated from North Carolina A&T State University with a bachelor's degree in English. She has many accomplishments, such as the first African-American woman in the Piedmont to host her own talk show "Sandra and Friends," host of "PM Magazine" in the Southeast region and the first African-American in the Piedmont to receive the Edward R. Murrow Award. She was also the first woman broadcaster to be invited to participate in the European Communities Visitors Program.

She received an award from Gannett Broadcasting for her work on a documentary on the Anniversary of the Woolworth's Sit-In, a major force in the Civil Rights Movement. In addition, she has been honored by the Associated Press and Gannett Broadcasting for Outstanding News Series.

Representative Alma S. Adams has served in the North Carolina General Assembly since 1994, when she was first appointed to the twenty-sixth House District by Governor James B. Hunt. She was re-elected to her sixth term in November 2004. During her tenure, Adams has helped to introduce numerous bills to strengthen laws for the protection of children, women and families. As an educator and artist, Adams has initiated and sponsored numerous bills to support North Carolina's colleges, universities and schools and has been a strong advocate for the arts and culture. She also has a long history of recognitions and awards for her work in education, the arts and public service.

Representative Adams has been on the faculty of Bennett College in Greensboro since 1972, and serves as professor of art and oversees the college's art collections. Adams received her bachelor's degree ('68) and masters degree ('72) in Art Education from North Carolina A&T State University in Greensboro and her Ph.D. ('81) in Art and Multicultural Education from The Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio.

The Strength of A&T

On November 10, 2004 students, faculty, staff, and alumni celebrated the 50th anniversary of Brown vs. Board of Education with "Hands Across America". To reaffirm the university's commitment to the Brown decision, Aggies join hands to line the campus perimeter. The School of Education sponsored the event in conjunction with American Education Week.

THINK TANK

SGA President Calvin Williams and his team mastermind the 2005 Think Tank conference.

The Think Tank was started at Tennessee State University by Jamie Riley who recognized the only way to overcome the problems at our respective universities and in our country is through proper communication. The purpose of the 2005 Think Tank is to assemble the best and brightest from across the country in leadership to explore, dissect, and solve our generational problems. It provided an enthralling experience for all leaders that came to North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University. The 2005 HBCU Think Tank is the fourth in its young but powerful history. This is a conference for the "true" leaders of our generation. This conference is for like-minded leaders who are ready to move our culture, people, and generation forward. This is the conference that changes your life and the world.

The Strength of A&T

The Mission of the HBCU Think Tank is to provide an educational, motivational, and inspiring conference that assembles college students to address the needs of our generation.

The President of Student Technology Services, Cory Adams, spoke at the closing banquet and worked to perfect all the events.

A NEW LOOK AT the Scotts

In 1951, A&T opened one of the largest student dormitories in the entire nation. Eighteen (18) years later, in May of 1969, a riot began at Dudley High School because of an uncertain Student Government Association election. The riot was so intense that it spilled over to the campus of A&T. Amidst all of the struggling, Willie Grimes, an A&T student, was shot dead. Police were also wounded in the action. The Civil Rights Movement and the rise of black power had been well on its way in that decade, and the National Guard was ordered to execute justice, peace, and order on the campus of A&T. The riot continued on the next day. Afraid for their lives, students crowded together in Scott Hall and the National Guard soldiers were authorized to open fire on the building. It is believed that the brick walls of Scott Hall saved the students from the rifle fire. Since that time, A&T administration, faculty, alumni, students, friends, and neighbors have passed the strong and emotional memories of the event on to this future generation to do the same.

The new millennium has brought on more needs for A&T. Scott Hall held so many memories for students in the past. Today's students will now make history in a newer version of Scott Hall. The general trade contractor for A&T, North Carolina Monroe Construction Company, has taken the responsibility of replacing Scott Hall with a more modern residence hall. The historical bullet hole distinctive wall was removed in five 4 by 6 foot sections to be created as a memorial to those who experienced, suffered, and endured the Scott Hall Riot of 1969. A ceremony was held here at A&T to commemorate the unforgettable Scott Hall.

Verge Modeling Tropes

As the Homecoming festivities continued, on October 6, 2004 Verge hosted the annual fashion show with special guest, Couture Productions. The show was history in the making, as it was the first time that Verge Modeling Troop and Couture Productions joined together to put on a show. It was also the return of the fashion show to Harrison Auditorium. This year's theme was entitled "Beautiful Mind," displaying the different perceptions of what goes on in someone's mind. The show was broken into scenes – the first scene illustrated how people interpreted someone acting crazy; and the second scene, which was entitled "For Richer or Poorer," was a glimpse of people's perceptions of high class and lower class societies. The third scene, entitled "Forbidden Fruit," depicted an Adam and Eve world; this scene interpreted people's perceptions of lust. During the intermission, Couture Productions performed a show entitled "Gotham City," depicting different villains associated with Batman. During the last scene of Couture's production, they depicted the different interpretations of how people view death. While the two companies made history, it was a sure sign that A&T's Homecoming was one to be remembered.

COMEDY SHOW

The official Homecoming Comedy Show was in Corbett Gymnasium on October 5, 2004. Students lined the streets of the strip awaiting tickets for the 7:00 pm show. The tickets were free to all students. Each act showcased their talent and jokes with topics ranging from classes and college campuses to heated topics such as sex and the consequences. This was a show that many students will remember for times to come.

Fall Convocation

On October 7, 2004, the University held Fall Convocation. P. Dwight Holman, Deputy Chief for Management at the United States Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service, was the keynote speaker. The University Band, Fellowship Gospel Choir, University Choir, Army/Air Force, Cheerleaders, sport teams, student leaders, and administrators participated in the program.

New Classroom Building Dedication

Dr. Caesar Jackson, Dean of the College of Arts & Sciences, gives the opening welcome during the New Classroom Building Dedication.

A&T Alumni are the first to explore the building after the ribbon-cutting.

The College of Arts and Sciences dedicated its new addition – the New Classroom Building (NCB) – on October 7, 2004 at 2 p.m. The ribbon-cutting ceremony was held in front of the Richard Hunt Sculpture “Progress,” which served as the theme of the event. Faculty, alumni, students, and friends were invited to this special occasion and a host of other events. The Richard B. Harrison Players performed a theatrical tribute of a poem written by English professor Jody Martin. After the ribbon-cutting, guests were invited to tour the NCB and see all that it has to offer. This building has been a great addition to students, faculty, and staff and will be a treasured monument for this campus.

Dr. Truesdale, Latiera Streeter and Calvin Williams look on as Chancellor Renick greets the crowd with a warm smile while cutting the ribbon.

An anxious crowd waits for the speaker to begin his speech about the dedication to NCB.

Chancellor Renick tells the crowd about future projects concerning the College of Arts and Sciences.

"SOUTHSIDEM!" says Uche Byrd, who is from Southside, Chicago. His major is Applied Mathematics. Mr. Aggie serves on the Student Union Advisory Board. He is responsible for making decisions on programming. He wants to be a positive male representative for all A&T students. He is a member of NASA black engineers and he conducts a mentor group out of Dudley High School. In the future, Uche sees A&T creating an official male representative with the title of Mr. North Carolina A&T. "Our young men need someone to look up to," says Mr. Aggie.

She and her peers then realized she was a natural born leader. She became Miss A&T because she wanted to make a difference and contribute to the student body by setting an example of a female leader who loves community service. "My peers look up to me so I did not want to let them down as a leader." Her one wish is to change the perception of Miss A&T. "Some people think all I do is wave at games; that's only 1% of what I do." Laticia's words for the next and future Miss A&T's are "Be prepared, be mentally strong, and do whatever you set your mind to because it can happen."*

THE GREEKS COME OUT AT NIGHT.....

A&T's official homecoming step show was held at the Greensboro Coliseum, where Aggies showed support for A&T's Greeks. Eight National Pan-Hellenic Organizations showcased their stepping abilities with creative themes and unique concepts.

Alumni Functions

While using "perfect form," an alumnus enjoys the time to just relax and have fun.

As part of the long-standing tradition of Homecoming, the alumni are always celebrated and honored. During the week of Homecoming, alumni are treated as royalty. With a host of concerts, banquets, and festivities, the alumni are made to feel as if they are coming back to their college for the first time. This is a time for them to relax and enjoy the "Greatest Homecoming on Earth."

"Go, Go, Aggies!" The Alumni cheerleaders perform during the game showing their "Aggie Pride."

The Homecoming Golf Tournament brings so many alumni back to the university, not just for a trophy, but to be reunited with old friends.

An alumnus takes a break from the festivities. Family and friends use this time to have fun and enjoy the events.

A Pershing Rifle alumnus enjoys the events of Homecoming. It is very common for alumni to show support for their organizations.

Alumni Functions

Grilling out is just one of the perks of being an alumnus during Homecoming. Good food and great friends, this is what Homecoming is all about.

Lillie Robbins smiles with Chancellor Renick, while giving a $25,000 check to A&T.

Donations are a big part of what keeps A&T a family. Alumni are often generous donors.

HOMECOMING PARADE

A Community Affair

The Homecoming Parade was held Saturday, October 9, 2004. This joyous occasion began at 8:00 a.m., as all the Aggies, Aggie-supporters, and Aggie alumni came out to celebrate our annual Homecoming Parade to "kick off" the exciting football game against Morgan State University.

Chancellor Renick and his wife, Peggy, show their true "Aggie Pride" as they walk in the parade.

The SGA takes a ride on their float after much preparation for the Homecoming events.

Latiera Streeter, Miss North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University greets the crowds with a friendly wave.

The Blue and Gold Marching Machine is always prepared to give the crowd an enjoyable show.

This clown pumps up the crowd by her chants and humorous attire.

A&T prepares for the future by recruiting Aggies early.

Grand Marshall, Janice Bryant Howroyd, CEO of ACT-1 Group and Co-Chair of A&T's Capital Campaign rides along in a convertible, putting the focus on "From Generation to Generation."

Miss Freshman, Anice Hagler; Miss Sophomore, Crystal Williams; Miss Junior, Christina Rodgers; and Miss Senior, Lindsay Bowen all dressed in white, representing their classes.

The Alumni Band marches down the street just like they did when they were students at A&T.

The Mr. and Miss of each residence hall all look attentive as they ride their house shaped float.

Seeing future Aggies in the parade is always a highlight.

Marching Band

"Are there any Aggies in the house?" Thousands of fans gathered from across the nation in the Aggie Stadium on October 9, 2004, to support our 2003 MEAC Championship football team in the homecoming game against the Morgan State Bears. As the football team fought their battle on the field, our high spirited cheerleaders kept the energy flowing through the crowd by dancing, tumbling, and chanting some of our favorite cheers - Go! Go Aggies ! Hey! Hey! During halftime, no fan could keep their seat because they could not stop groovin' to the sounds of the world renowned Blue & Gold Marching Machine along with the lovely and versatile ladies of Golden Delight. Aggie Pride was not only displayed in the stadium, but all around it as well. Tailgaters packed the parking lots and streets, sporting A&T paraphernalia, listening to oldies but goodies, and serving food right off the grill. No one can deny a combination of all this; it is the greatest homecoming in the world! Can I get an AGGIE PRIDE!

Concert

Jay-Z

The official Homecoming concert was held on October 9, 2004 at the Greensboro Coliseum Complex. The SGA presented the "Best of Both Worlds" tour with the artists Jay-Z and R. Kelly working the crowds. The two superstars had the audience up on their feet for hours. The audience could not get enough of the energy from both Jay-Z and R. Kelly and demanded an encore selection from them. This was a highlight for the university and community.

Ron Jones of Perfect Praise presented President Jessica Middleton, and Vice Chancellor Roselle Wilson with a generous donation for an A&T Fellowship Gospel Choir Scholarship.

Aggie Homecoming is well known for the parties, the game, the band, and now the A&T Fellowship Gospel Choir. As the "Greatest Homecoming on Earth" came to an end, Aggies from all around dressed for a spiritual Sunday service followed by an inspiring Gospel concert. The annual Homecoming Gospel Concert was held in Harrison Auditorium on Sunday, October 10, 2004 at 5:00 p.m. The concert was free to the public and turned out to be a celebration to remember. The A&T

Choir brought down the house with their soulful renditions of songs such as "Great is the Lord" by Ron Jones and "Let's Dance" by Larry Hunter. The program continued to inspire as the Choir performed scenes from their competition performance. With the performances from featured artist Ron Jones and Perfect Praise, along with Gospel recording artist Jay Moss, it was easy to see why A&T's Homecoming Gospel Concert was a must see program.

The Essence of Praise dance team performed a graceful dance number to the song "Great is the Lord" by Ron Jones.

Chip Price was the Master of Ceremonies, keeping the crowd energized and wanting more.

University Relations

Built in 1939, the Garrett House is home of the University Relations Office. This two-story Georgian style cottage was named in honor of Mrs. Florence Garrett, who was among the first women students to attend the college, and who bequeathed her small estate to the College to establish an endowment. The University Relations Office was formerly housed in the Dowdy Administration Building and relocated to the Garrett House in December, 2000. The Office serves as the official linkage between the University and its various publics and is responsible for leading all major informational, promotional and image building efforts for the university at local, state, national and international levels. During the year, the office spreads "Good News" about A&T through numerous publications including the "Aggie Report," "Chancellor's Annual Report," "A&T Today" and "E-Newsletter." The "A&T Story" is also told through news releases, billboards, television and radio commercials, artistic photographs and other media outlets. The most recent addition to the "A&T Story" is the weekly comic script, Aggie Life, which is a hit with Aggies across the country.

Never Dare to Dream...

For there is no limit to do what dreams can do.

Dreams can move mountains, and they can build bridges too.

They can bridge the gap between Fantasy and Reality.

Between Chance and Opportunity, Between Fact and Fiction,

But most importantly, Between Failure and Success.

You should always believe in your dreams, and never let them go

For the outcome could be greater than you will ever know.

Believe me when I say, Dreams really do come true;

Because through Prayer, it has happened to many.

And I most certainly hope that happens to YOU.

DIVISION OF DEVELOPMENT AND UNIVERSITY RELATIONS

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION: CAMPAIGN NORTH CAROLINA A&T

Dear Graduates:

Now is the time to make an investment in A&T much like the way alumni, parents, friends, and others made an investment in you. Did you know that over 90% of A&T students receive financial aid? Or, that the State of North Carolina provides only 33% of the funds needed to provide the high quality education to which the university is committed? The university's Capital Campaign has raised $72.9 million towards the goal of $100 million. We need your help to exceed the goal. As this fiscal year comes to a close, records indicate that 14% of alumni supported the university with a financial commitment this year. We need more! Below are five reasons to support A&T.

- 5 Your tax deductible gift, no matter what size, shows your commitment to A&T.
- 4 You leave a lasting legacy and set a standard for future graduation classes.
- 3 Your gift will strengthen the current and future success of A&T.
- 2 Your gift will help to increase our alumni participation, which will enable A&T to achieve a higher national ranking thereby increasing the value of your degree.
- 1 Don't just say Aggie Pride...show Aggie Pride!

Choose any one of the reasons or your own, but make a personal commitment to be among the percentage of alumni who give!

It's easier to build a child than to repair an adult. Our students are not just our future, they are our present. Leave a lasting legacy to sustain that which will one day sustain you.

Sincerely,

North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University
Division of Development and University Relations

The theme "From Generation to Generation" reflects the idea of one generation of Aggies supporting the next generation of Aggies.

"We Charge You!"

Set a Standard.

Make an investment
in the future of A&T.

Add to our "Tradition of Excellence."

You are a "Strength of A&T."

A Non-Traditional Aggie, Striving for Excellence.

Christine Barrett is not the average college freshman. She is a 76 year-old freshman here at North Carolina A&T State University. Barrett is a sociology/social work major from Gastonia, N.C. She has ten children, is happily married to Orlander Barrett, and is currently living on campus.

When asked about her first year experience, Barrett said "It has been an experience and a challenging year. Every time that I would face a challenge, I would think about where my help comes from. I received much encouragement from all the students and faculty that I encountered. I understand that I am not the average freshman and that does not mean I still can't get a degree."

Barrett feels that by being here in school, she is not the only one who will benefit from it. She is doing this for her husband, family, and all the people who think it is too late for them to dream. She is very happy to reach sophomore status at the university and is looking forward to the day when she walks across the stage.

Mrs. Barrett understands that she is not a traditional student, but she does not let that stop her from striving and achieving for excellence. "If I can do it, you can do it," says Barrett.

Teammates take time out to strategize and prepare for round two.

The team lines up before the game for the national anthem.

“Steady, steady, are the thoughts running through her head as she awaits the ball.”

Arlene Mitchell prepares herself for the spike that is headed her way.

Sharing High-fives. Without teamwork, success wouldn't be possible. They show us the team spirit in this photo.

This Aggie concentrates on getting some points for her team. A strike is what she really wants.

The Women's Bowling team had a winning season this year. Even though they did not win the MEAC championship, they still gave it their all. When asking a faithful fan about the season, Senior Chanel Garner replied, "They didn't do as good as I expected them to in the tournament, but they had an excellent year. I was disappointed that they did not win the title this year, but they still had a winning season." Despite the outcome of the tournament, the Lady Aggies still held their heads high Demonstrating perfect technique, this Aggie is going for a STRIKE!

BLUE AND GOLD MARCHING MACHINE

Band Staff
"Gold Coats"

North Carolina A&T State University boasts one of the top-ranked marching bands in the nation! Under the direction of Dr. Kenneth G. Ruff, the "Blue & Gold Marching Machine" executes half time performances, displays musical excellence, and serves as a source of pride for the university. Comprised of students from many different majors, the marching band works hard to live up to the legacy of performance perfection expected by their fans. Highlights of the "Marching Machine" include the precise drummers of Cold Steel, the talented and versatile ladies of Golden Delight and a host of instrumentalists who devote many hours to being the best. So when you hear the sound of the Machine, just know that a dynamic show and thrilling experience awaits you. Aggie Pride!

Becoming a fan favorite takes a lot of hard work and dedication in band practices.

Look out as the MEAC champions of Aggieland take the crowd by storm. The hard work and long practices definitely show when the Aggie Cheerleading squad hits the track or gym floor. They do their cheers with precision and very sharp movements. They are known to get crowds up, especially when they say, "Go Aggies! Hey! Hey!" or "Aggies Get Up!" This team is truly a part of our strength at A&T.

Hearts pound, sweat pours, and with a touchdown from a receiver the crowd cheers wildly. The Aggie Football team is always great at drawing a crowd. The team faced off with challenging teams and gave it all they had. The football team strived hard to perform their best in the 2004 season and their work was not in vain. The Aggies are real athletes with a love for the great game of football.

#13 Shareka Glover stops and pulls up for a shot against the Lady Hornets.

2004-2005 Season

“ Offense sells tickets, but Defense is what wins the games. ”

This is a perfect illustration of how defense works.

Junior guard Kira Tillman fades away after a shot taken against the Lady Pirates.

Senior guard Mia Glover shoots a free throw against the Lady Hawks to cut the lead.

Williams looks for an opening as she feels the pressure from the Hornets defense.

Glover shows them what defense is all about as she defends her territory.

"Defense is the name of the game," says Kira Tillman.

Hampton's player just can't keep up as Glover gets past her.

This Hampton player was not ready for the Lady Aggies.

As the opponents watch from the sidelines, Neil Rosser gives the crowd a show. He, along with all the other members of the team, know that waiting on the perfect pitch is the key to perfect game.

The catcher may think he is going to get the ball but the batter has other plans. He sends the ball deep in the outfield.

With a great deal of hard work and dedication, the Baseball team made this season their most successful year in many years. Going all the way to the College World Series, the team faced some challenging obstacles, but never gave up. Determination was a driving force behind the team, and it brought them to victory time after time. The team is full of talent and the players learned to work as a team. The Aggies captured the title of MEAC Champions and were very successful in the College World Series.

HALL OF FAME

2004 ENSHRINEES

Vernell Stallings (left) has a long history with NC A&T SU that dates back to 1959. He received his BS degree in 1964, and acquired his MS degree in 1971. He served 21 years on active and inactive duty that included a tour in Vietnam. He was the first African-American to hold several key positions in Human Resources at Cone Mills Corporation before starting a 25-year career at A&T as the Associate Director of Operations for the Memorial Student Union. In this role, he was responsible for the day-to-day operations, maintenance and upkeep of the facility. In recognition of his love, care and contributions to that facility, he was honored by the University with the naming of the new ballroom in the renovated portion of the Union as the "Stallings Ballroom".

In 1996, he formed the NC A&T SU MEAC Women's Varsity Bowling Team that received the very first NCAA & MEAC Bowling Championship for 1996, 1997 and 1999. Stallings retired from A&T in 2001 as one of the most successful coaches of any sport at his Alma Mater. Coach Stallings was never just a bowling coach. He was a mentor, role model, and oftentimes a father-figure for many of the students.

Professional achievements:

- Lifetime membership, Association of College Unions International (ACUI)
- Lifetime membership, Personnel Association of Greater Greensboro
- NC A&T Athletic Lifetime Achievement Award 2003
- Distinguished Alumni Award of National Association for Equal Opportunity (NAFEO)
- Alumni of Excellence, NC A&T SU 2003

Other Hall of Fame members stand as they are recognized during the press conference for their soon to be fellow enshrinees.

Charles Tisdale's (right) history with NC A&T SU dates back as far as 1951. He was an exceptional athlete in football as the team's quarterback as well as an excellent blocker. Tisdale ran a multitude of offenses that included 217 plays from 6 different formations. Tisdale had the remarkable versatility to run as well as pass the ball, receiving the CIAA honorable mention in football in the then sixteen-school conference. Tisdale also excelled in track and field where he held the CIAA record for the javelin throw. After graduating, he set even more records while serving in the military where he was named the All-Army Quarterback in 1958, and set an All-European record for the Allied Armed Forces in the javelin throw.

Following the military, he carved out a brilliant career as a civil servant in the state of Connecticut and the community of Bridgeport. He was a member of President Jimmy Carter's White House staff and was endorsed by former Vice President Mondale while running for Mayor of the City of Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Professional achievements:

- Distinguished Alumni Award of National Association for Equal Opportunity (NAFEO)
- Chief Executive Director of Action for Bridgeport Community Development (ABCD)
- Founder and Principal of JST, Inc. that specializes in developing public and private sector initiatives to meet economic objectives of Domestic and Foreign Communities.

The purpose of the NC A&T Sports Hall of Fame is to honor former athletes and persons who demonstrated excellence in Aggie sports and brought esteem, recognition and fame to themselves and to their Alma Mater.

A press conference was held on the campus of A&T in the Stallings Ballroom in the Memorial Student Union on the afternoon of October 22nd and then a banquet was held in their honor that same evening in the Guilford Ballroom at the Sheraton Four Seasons Hotel.

Dedication

A&T dedicated the Lady Aggies Softball Complex 12:00 p.m. Saturday, April 8, 2005. The dedication served as an opportunity to celebrate the extraordinary step taken by the A&T softball program.

"This was another step in our continual effort to make sure athletes at A&T practice, train and compete at the best facilities possible," said interim athletics director Reginald Wade.

Dr. Melvin Swann (Board of Trustees member), Chancellor Renick, and Dr. Velma Speight-Buford (Board of Trustees vice chair) during official ribbon cutting ceremony for the Aggie softball field.

Michael Magoon and Trustee Swann said that rain nor any bad weather would keep them from the celebration.

Dedication

A&T dedicated its $1.5 million Irwin Belk Olympic Track at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 25, 2004. The eight-lane track, which is located in Aggie Stadium, has been certified by the International Association of Athletics Federation.

"Having the new track will give A&T the opportunity to join a few elite institutions in hosting not only national but international track and field meets," said Roy Thompson, head track coach. "The institution could make history by being one of the first historically black colleges to be internationally recognized for its state-of-the-art track and track meets."

The track dedication ceremony took place during the Russell Blunt East Coast Invitational for youth athletes. More than 3,000 athletes from across the country as well as athletes from Bermuda and Mexico attended the Invitational.

The track is named in honor of North Carolina philanthropist Irwin Belk, retired president of the Belk Group Stores. Belk is a former N.C. Senator and member of the House of Representatives. He has served on the U.S. Olympic Committee for more than 45 years and served two terms as a U.S. delegate at the 54th United Nations General Assembly.

Belk is a long-standing supporter of A&T's athletics program. He was a major donor for the Bryan Fitness and Wellness Center and last year donated a gold sculpture of the Aggie Dog Mascot to the university.

Board members and Mr. Irwin Belk pose in front of office sign donated by his family for the track.

Dr. Gerald Truesdale (Board of Trustees Chair), gave the opening address during the ceremony

Coach Roy Thompson expresses how heartfelt he is that A&T has a track to call home.

Chancellor Renick and Mr. Belk pose with the golden baton, showing their commitment and unity for Aggie Athletics.

Media Network

The purpose of the Media Network Organization is to serve as a link between communication students, other organizations on campus, and media professionals in the triad and throughout the industry.

History Club

The purpose of the History Club is to promote African-centered values, foster complementary relationships between men and women, establish programs for enlightenment, help to better develop people of all ages, and nurture an active working relationship between the History Club, North Carolina A&T State University, and the Greensboro community.

Student Support Services

"Definiteness of Purpose is the starting point of all achievement."

-W. Clement Stone

The Student Support Services program is a federally-funded TRIO program that provides support services designed to meet the needs of low-income, first-generation college students and individuals with disabilities relative to their achieving success in and graduating from A&T. The services of the Program are limited to students already enrolled or accepted for enrollment in the new enrollment period.

Participants receive tutorial assistance in Math, Science, English, Physics, and Foreign Languages; financial aid workshops to insure that they receive the maximum amount of aid that they are entitled to; academic advising; career awareness information and workshops; and free admission to cultural activities (live plays, university productions, and an array of other outside cultural activities).

RONALD MCNAIR PROGRAM

Established in 1989

The Ronald E. McNair Post-Baccalaureate Achievement Program is funded by the U.S. Department of Education. This program is designed to prepare and encourage low income, first generation, underrepresented students in graduate education to consider careers in college teaching and to prepare them for graduate study leading to a doctoral degree.

Dr. Joyce Brown
Program Director

The Program is named for North Carolina A&T State University's Magna Cum Laude Graduate, Ronald E. McNair. A&T's Program was funded in 1990 as a multi-disciplinary comprehensive academic support program consisting of an Academic Year Program and a Summer Research Program.

Geraldine Burnett
Program Counselor

Dr. Ronald Erwin McNair, Physicist and Astronaut, dared to dream. As an African American growing up in a poor community in Lake City, South Carolina, he encountered discrimination early in his youth. Yet this did not stop him from pursuing his dream of becoming a scientist. In 1971, he graduated magna cum laude from North Carolina A&T State University with a Bachelors of Science (B.S.) degree in physics.

McNair then enrolled in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1976, at the age of 26, he earned his Ph.D. degree in laser physics. Dr. McNair soon became a recognized expert in laser physics while working as a staff physicist with Hughes Research Laboratory. He was selected by NASA for the space shuttle program in 1978 and was a mission specialist aboard the 1984 flight of the shuttle Challenger.

Students from all over the country came to participate in A&T's annual University Day.

Exhibits were set up in the Student Union to give students information about the different programs offered at A&T.

Information booths were available around campus to help visiting students find their way around campus.

University Day

Students observe a demonstration by the chemistry department. This was an example of the experiments performed in class.

Visiting students were able to gather information about the university. This will become useful when filling out an application for admission.

Students filled out information about their interests for the major of their choice.

Prospective Students Visit the University

Students from different high schools across the country came to NC A&T on October 23, 2004, to participate in University Day. This day was set aside for students to tour the campus and participate in many of the events throughout the school year. Students were able to go to exhibits which showcased the different programs available at A&T. Along with the tour of the campus, students attended a football game as well as ate meals in Williams Cafeteria. The students were entertained by a mini-step show performed by the Greek organizations on campus. Students were able to get a first-hand experience of what attending A&T is really like. This day is helpful in the encouragement of future Aggies.

Parents were also able to ask teachers and staff about information, the school and classes.

University Day is a family affair. Many parents accompany their children to learn first-hand about the university.

Teachers eagerly awaited parents and students to visit their booth. This gave them a chance to answer any questions that they may have had.

Black College Tour 2005

Black College weekend officially kicked off with BET hosting their annual Black College Tour. BET brought games, music, and promotional products to campus, giving students a break from hectic classes. Students were able to win prizes by participating in such games as three point shoot outs, Sumo wrestling, and freestyle battles. Students took surveys and registered to win gifts. All around, students were able to just have fun and enjoy the event.

November 2, 2004 will definitely be remembered as a critical election year at North Carolina A&T State University. So many emotions were involved not only here at the University, but also within the surrounding community. Supporters of both Kerry and Bush rallied to promote their candidates. This election seemed to focus more on the younger generation and our consciousness as it relates to the concept of voting in the United States. Students were given the challenge by politicians in their community to VOTE and understand the power we have. Sean "P. Diddy" Combs sponsored the "Vote or Die" campaign, which went around the country educating people young, old, and underrepresented on their rights as citizens. A&T students set up numerous voter registration drives, info-sessions, and encouraged students to vote early. A&T districts registered over 3300 people, with the majority being students for early voting. To help rally support in North Carolina, vice-president hopeful John Edwards made an appearance at A&T, speaking in front of the A&T Four Monument. People from all walks of life throughout the community united under the sound of his voice. So what happened on November 2nd? Students flooded the voting booths by the hundreds when the polls opened, and they kept coming until voting stopped at 7:30 p.m. Danita Lawrence, the chief judge at the student union, arrived to work at 5:30 a.m. She said within a half hour, students had already formed a line at the doors. "They were lined up at six o'clock and it was nonstop."

Aggies Vote!!

1. During the days leading up to the big election students were able to go to different booths and get information about each candidate.
2. Students used the electronic voting method to cast their votes. This was easy and effective for students on the go.
3. Students showed their support for their favorite candidate by wearing shirts and signs. This is a dedicated supporter of Justin Ramey, who won the SGA Presidential election.
4. Chance Lynch rallies for supporters during the election. Many candidates could be seen holding signs and passing out flyers.
5. Aggies take a break to have some fun during elections.
6. Students gather in front of the Student Union to visit candidates one last time before they cast their ballots.

AGGIE ELECTIONS

On March 23, 2005, over 1500 Aggies rushed to the Exhibit Hall in the Memorial Student Union to cast their votes.

Voting was held from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Students of all classes rushed to cast their choice for whom they thought should be Miss A&T, the Student Government Association Executive Board, and many others. With many options to choose from, the nominees flooded the courtyard of the Student Union to rally students' support at the last minute. With enticements of candy, doughnuts, and other gifts students gathered to enjoy the last words the candidates had to say. While voting was steady, students were entertained by a D.J. and took part in a party that was held to celebrate the occasion. After all the excitement was over, in the end there could only be one winner.

Theatre

The Theatre Department at North Carolina A&T has done it once again with award winning performances throughout the school year. The National Award Winning Richard B. Harrison Players performed several plays of different genres, including "Crowns" by Regina Taylor, "Plaza Suite" by Neil Simon, "Black Nativity" by Langston Hughes, and the award winning "A Raisin in the Sun" by Lorraine Hansberry. In keeping with a tradition of excellence, the Richard B. Harrison Players were asked to perform excerpts of "Crowns" by Victoria Rowell, of the Young and Restless, for her charity, the Rowell Foster Children's Foundation Benefit High Tea at Noon. "Black Nativity" is a crowd favorite; the play continues to combine old traditions with new creativity.

This is the 19th Annual Ronald E. McNair Commemorative Celebration. The program was dedicated to Dr. Ronald E. McNair, who was a 1971 graduate of A&T. In 1976, he received his Ph.D. in Laser Physics from M.I.T. He died on January 28, 1986, in an explosion while aboard the Space Shuttle Challenger. Every year the A&T community comes together to celebrate this magnificent intellectual and all of his many accomplishments. During this program, the Gospel Choir, E. Gywnn Dancers, and several speakers joined us. Among those in attendance were the A&T Four and N.C. House of Representative, Dr. Alma Adams.

Continuing the Legacy of a Dream

"I decided early to give my life to something eternal and absolute. Not to these little gods that are here today and gone tomorrow, but to God who is the same yesterday, today, and forever." (From "Rediscovering Lost Values," Feb. 28, 1954)

With these words spoken, Dr. King had no idea of the impact his words, speeches, protests, actions, etc. would mean to not only African American people in the present day, but also to all races. Because of his passion for what he believed, students at NCA&T are able to gather together and celebrate his birthday as a great moment in time. On January 13, 2005, students, faculty, and members of the community participated in several community service projects and a program held in Stallings Ballroom at the Memorial Student Union to honor Dr. King and celebrate his purpose for dreaming. Some of these projects included serving food at the Potter's House, face painting for the youth, and a Commemorative March. The theme of the program was "Dream It, Live It, and Walk It Every Day." As part of the program's honor, Miss A&T, Laticera Streeter, presented a spoken word entitled "Why We Celebrate" that moved the crowd and helped set the tone of the evening. The NC A&T State University Fellowship Gospel Choir sang an inspirational song and led the crowd in the singing of "Lift Every Voice and Sing." Afterwards, some students and faculty members participated in a Candlelight Vigil honoring the late Dr. King. After the opening ceremonies, a dramatization began. "The Meeting," a play by Jeff Stetson, captivated the crowd from start to finish. It encompassed comedy, meaning, truth, and inspiration. The play was based on a fictional meeting between Dr. King and Malcolm X.

FEBRUARY ONE PROGRAM: A TRADITION OF A&T'S STRENGTH...

This year marks the 45th anniversary of the sit-in movement that revolutionized Greensboro. The four men, Franklin McCain, Joseph McNeil, Jibreel Khazan (Ezell Blair, Jr.), and the late David Richmond, were honored as North Carolina A&T carries on the tradition of celebrating these men. This year's theme was "Equality and Justice for All Times." Students, faculty, alumni, and friends gathered at the Williams Cafeteria to kick off the celebration with a breakfast. The Rev. Jesse Jackson, also a graduate of A&T, accompanied by his son Rep. Jesse Jackson Jr., were also in attendance. Guest speaker Thomas N. Todd was also there to give his support to the celebration by giving a speech to the guests. This celebration marks a great achievement for everyone who participated.

Aggie Fest: Greek Basketball

Greek Basketball anyone? The annual greek basketball game was one of the highlights during Aggie Fest this year. Each organization came with its "A" game that day. The AKAs first defeated the Zetas, then went for an intense match with the Deltas-putting an end to the two-time reigning champions. The men's side was just as intense, with several games going into overtime. There was also another title snatched, as the Kappas beat the Alphas in an exciting matchup. This year the "Pretty Boys" and the "Pretty Girls" proved to be the best.

Step Show Time!! This was the hottest event during Aggie Fest 2005. Each organization represented to the fullest with creative themes and innovative steps. This year's step show was indeed a must see with the Devastating Deltas and Karismatic Kappas taking home the victory. The Kappas Kaptivated the Krowd with their version of the five heartbeats and the Deltas set the stage on fire with their "Harlem Nights" theme . This year's step show was definitely a Krimson and Cream affair .

Aggie Fest: CODE RED

On April 17, 2005, the Delta Sigma Theta sorority hosted "Code Red" on the campus of A&T. Several A&T students and alumni, as well as friends and family from the community gathered at the Holland Bowl to celebrate a day of fun with one another. Code Red was a community event that included various games such as a friendly game of kickball, basketball and yes, jump rope! Everyone who attended had a great time!

Aggie Fest Health Awareness Fair

The health care providers of Sebastian Health Center hosted a Health Fair during the NCAT Aggie Fest. The Health Fair, a community event focused on educating A&T students and the community about the importance of their health. The booths and tables provided information on several diseases such as AIDS and obesity and its impact on the community. The Sebastian Health Center staff answered any questions that people had concerning ways to improve their health.

When living on campus, students do not have to worry about the commute to school or the stressful task of trying to find a parking space. Living on campus allows students to experience "Residence Life." While living on campus, students are able to meet their peers and get a better feel of independence from moms and dads. From all the noise violations to all the friends made in the residence halls, every student can look back and remember something that makes him/her proud to be an Aggie. After a long day of classes, Aggies like to chill out or go to sleep in their rooms before they study. Being away from home has made students very active. Some residence halls planned monthly activities to keep the students entertained. The Residence Hall Step Off was a very exciting event that took place to entertain A&T's residents. It brought out excellent talents in the different residence halls. From all the write ups, fines, privileges, and mandatory hall meetings, Aggies can truly say that we experience "Residence Life."

The Sit-In

On a Monday afternoon, the first day of February in 1960, at 4:30 p.m., four freshmen from Scott Hall at NC A&T College took seats at the downtown F.W. Woolworth Co. Store lunch counter and stayed, without service, until the store closed at 5:30 p.m. A group of twenty more A&T students returned without being served the next day - starting what they declared would be a growing movement. Student spokesmen said they were seeking luncheon counter service, and would increase their numbers daily until they got it. The group wrote to the president of Woolworth asking for "a firm stand to eliminate this discrimination," and signed the letter as members of the Student Executive Committee for Justice. By the fourth day of the sit-ins, the original four had grown to hundreds and after a few months, both the Woolworth store on South Elm Street and the nearby Kress 5&10 had agreed to integrate. The four leaders, were Franklin McCain, of Washington; Ezell Blair and David Richmond, both of Greensboro; and Joseph McNeill, of Wilmington, all freshmen.

As beneficiaries of their efforts, not only can we eat in any restaurant on Elm Street today, we can eat wherever we choose, even if we choose to build our own and name it "The Aggie Sit-In" in honor of those who came before us and paved the way through a tradition of excellence. Their bravery and unselfish sacrifices show us the true strength of A&T.

Tradition of Excellence*

Chancellor James C. Renick has had the privilege of helping the Class of 2005 grow into fine individuals who show the excellence of A&T.

A&T's mascot performs a powerful song for the graduates to remember forever.

Many professors and university officials came out to show their support and gratitude to many of the former students during graduation.

Family members from all over attend graduation in support of their love ones.

Senior Class President Jermaine Perry addresses the senior class one more time before his reign is over.

An honor student poses to show off all of her honor regalia that she earned at A&T.

May 7, 2005 marked the 114th year of commencement ceremonies for the graduates of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University. Present was a record breaking crowd of 14,000 people in attendance for the celebration.

Carly Fiorino, former CEO of Eichen-Parkway, gave the formal address to the 2005 graduating class. Her speech was very inspirational as she encouraged the graduates for the outside of college as she referred to it as the "real world."

The graduates realize that their status is changing and a new beginning is ahead of them. As they decide to go their separate ways, they will remember that this University will never be forgotten. As they begin another chapter of their lives, they will take with them all the lessons that they have learned while attending North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University.

Students get excited as they await the time to hear their name called and to walk across the stage to receive their diploma.

The Strength of A&T

"We Made It!"

Now that A&T has helped pave the way for these graduates, they are excited to start their careers and define their purpose in life.

Now alumni, these graduates have the opportunity to return in 50 years to wear their golden cap and gown.

“Do You Remember...”

From “Freshman Week” until Graduation Day, this has been a year to remember. Through getting up for 7:00, 8:00, and 9:00 morning classes to walking to 6:00 evening classes across campus, we questioned and earned our grades. New freshmen took their first steps as “Aggies” while sophomores became their friends and mentors. Juniors ran for SGA and class offices and received internships while seniors prepared to take the degrees out into the world from the “Strength of A&T.” The Chancellor, Administration, Professors and Instructors, Alumni, and Parents all helped to pave the way for this “Tradition of Excellence.” Our “Prominent Aggies”, like the A&T Four, remind us of our goals to succeed.

Don't Grieve For Me

Don't grieve for me,
for now I'm free
I'm following the path
God laid for me.
I took His hand when
I heard His call
I turned my back and left it all.
I could not stay another day,
to laugh, to love, to work or pray.
Tasks left undone
must stay that way,
I found that peace at the close of day.
If my parting has left a void,
Then fill it with remembered joy.
Perhaps my time has
seemed all too brief,
Don't lengthen it now
with undue grief.
Lift up your hearts,
and share with me
God wanted me now,
He set me Free.

Doris S. Hunter

In Loving Memory...

Reginald W. Brinkley

Life is but a Stopping Place
Life is but a stopping place
A pause in what's to be
A resting place along the road
To sweet eternity.
We all have different journeys,
Different paths along the way,
We all were meant
to learn some things,
But never meant to stay...
Our destination is a place
Far greater than we know.
For some, the journey's quicker,
For some the journey's slow.
And when the journey finally ends
We'll claim a great reward
And find an everlasting peace,
Together with the Lord.

You Will Never be Forgotten

I'm Free

A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss,
Oh, yes, these things I too will miss.
Be not burdened with times of sorrow,
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My life's been full, I've savored much,
Good friends, good times, a loved one's touch.
Perhaps my time seemed all too brief,
Don't lengthen it now with undue grief.
Lift up your hearts and peace to thee,
God wanted me now, He set me free.

Angels

When you were born, an angel smiled,
As you became a child, an angel sat on your shoulder
When you became an adult, an angel held your hand
As you grew old, an angel walked down the road with you,
And, when you died, another angel got their wings.

Rest in Peace

Annual Retirement Celebration

On June 8, 2005 at 6:00 p.m., in the Stallings Ballroom, the university honored thirty-one outstanding employees at the Annual Retirement Celebration. The evening was filled with tears of happiness for those who witnessed their loved one reach a great accomplishment and tears for some who hate to see great people leave the university. In the midst of the excitement, sorrow, and happiness, it was evident that A&T is truly a family-oriented university. Congratulations and thank you all for your many years of service.

Friends and family came out to join in the celebration in helping to honor the loved ones for reaching this great accomplishment.

Chancellor Renick presided over the program. His wife, Peggy, also came out to join in on the celebration.

Committee Chair Dr. Rita Lamb and member presented a gift of appreciation to all the retirees on behalf of the university.

Hostesses from the retirement banquet committee take time out to sit down and enjoy a meal after so much hard work and determination to make the event a success.

Willie and Jerrye Mooring showed their support that evening with a song of tribute for the retirees.

This table signifies that final step of completion for the retirees. Upon receiving their plaque, it recognized them as an official retired faculty and/or staff members of North Carolina A&T State University.

*There are a few things that bring satisfaction,
Like joy for a job that's complete.
When you look up and see that it's finished
And you get up and stand on your feet.*

*You look over the task that you've worked on,
And reflect on the struggles it held
You feel like an axe-welding woodsman,
Staring at the great tree he just felled.*

*It must be that way on completion
Of a grand and substantial career.
You can look back at so many victories,
Spanning over so many long years.
Think of all of the times you succeeded,
And how much it made your pride soar.*

*In some ways this event is prophetic
A harbinger of things to come
Though if we managed to reach that point too
We might get there feeling very numb!*

*Our university loses a weapon
Against which there is no sure defense.
So we're firm in our hearty acceptance
Of all those things you've seen, been, and done
And now that your work days are past you
It's time to get out and have some fun!*

*We're all feeling sorry
That we'll see you much less than before
But you'll be in our thoughts very often.*

Employee of the Year

Ms. Elvenor Botwe
Business & Finance

North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University is constantly growing into a campus of excellence every day. To help develop this school, A&T employs some of the finest professionals. This year's role model has been a devoted employee to the university since 1980. She is Ms. Elvenor Botwe. She started working at the university's bookstore in 1980 and in the accounting office as a travel clerk in 1982. She finally joined the purchasing office staff in 1982. Ms. Botwe administers the bid process for amounts of $5,000 to $100,000. She is very knowledgeable about reviewing requests to determine the best method for obtaining goods and services inside the state's guidelines. With all of her regular responsibilities, Botwe finds time to train staff members and serves as a consultant for the travel area. No matter what the circumstances, A&T has counted on Ms. Botwe to get the job done. She gives a total of 100%. Botwe balances her life in all aspects. While working the usual 40 hours or more per week, she also spends time with her family, attends New Hope Missionary Baptist Church, attends the Aggie athletics events, and works with the university's cheerleaders. In 2003, Botwe traveled to Las Vegas to cheer on the football team. Unexpectedly, she became ill and was hospitalized. She could not attend the festivities. Even though she was not with the A&T family physically, her heart remained deep in the core. After she returned to North Carolina, she had surgery and took a leave from work. "It was during that difficult time I realized that there are angels among us," Botwe said. "I truly appreciate everyone's love, support and confidence (in me)." This year, A&T proudly recognizes Ms. Elvenor Botwe as the Employee of the Year.

The Ayantee Yearbook Staff of 2004-2005

"It's finished!" says Amanda. What a year it has been working on the "Ayantee Yearbook." It has truly been an experience working with a staff that has leadership, teamwork, and dedication. We had a vision to produce a yearbook that A&T would be proud of for years to come. It took skills and patience in order to accomplish excellence. We had some of the super ideas for the yearbook pages. Leslie took first-rate photos. Latoria filled in useful information and wrote stories. Marquita had superior photos. Cita had the most imaginative and one-of-a-kind pages. Andrea interviewed and wrote outstanding stories. Cora wrote top stories and designed breathtaking, "oh my gosh, how did you do that?" pages. Chrystal sent all the emails and managed distribution in a timely manner. Steven had good information for the copy. Jessica took numerous, exceptional pictures and gathered knowledge about people and events at A&T. Tonya was the brilliant design expert. Amanda showed a great deal of perseverance and directed the layout of the book. Steven challenged the editors and staff and guided the yearbook to success. With all this work, we created "A Tradition of Excellence, ... The Strength of A&T!"

Editor's Piece

This year the yearbook staff put incredible energy and effort into making this book a good representation of the year's events. It is our sincere desire that you will enjoy this book for years to come and will use it to reflect back on your life and times at NC A&T.

The Theme "A Tradition of Excellence, the Strength of A&T," is most appropriate as Aggies try to keep up the traditions while striving for excellence.

It has been an honor working with dedicated individuals who are so passionate about being an Aggie. This book would not have been possible without their endless hours and tireless efforts. Ayantee staff, We salute you for your commitment, dedication, and hard work.

We truly hope that the pages contained within this book help each student remember a highlight of their college experience.

If you were excited about the 2005 Ayantee, you ain't seen nothing yet!

Photography

The AYANTEE photography staff took all photographs, unless otherwise indicated. Charles Watkins, the University Photographer took all sports pictures. Strawbridge Studios, Inc., P.O. Box 3005, Durham, NC, 27715, took all student portraits. Strawbridge Studios Inc., was contracted by North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University to be the official photographer for the 2005 AYANTEE. Photos were taken using a variety of cameras and lenses manufactured by Nikon and Konica Minolta. These include DiMAGE S414, DiMAGE Z3, and Nikon D70. All images are the exclusive property of the AYANTEE and may not be reproduced without prior written consent.

Design

The cover and endsheets were designed by Teaya W. Stallings of TSW Designs with the assistance from the Editor-In-Chief and Staff. All other designs were created by the AYANTEE staff using Adobe InDesign 2.0 and Adobe Photoshop 7.0.

Yearbook Interactive CD

The interactive CD was formatted and produced by the University TV Studio. Directed by Bruce Clark, Media Coordinator with the assistance from students in the Journalism and Mass Communication University TV Studio.
